Lakers Select Pepperdine as Training Site

The Los Angeles Lakers have completed negotiations with George Pepperdine College of Los Angeles for the use of the school's athletic facilities for their first training site in Southern California, according to an announcement from Fred Schaus, coach of the local NBA team.

The Lakers play their first league game in the Sports Arena on October 24 against the New York Knickerbockers.

The team opens a series of exhibition games in the Southern California area with a charity contest in the Sports Arena with the world's champions, the Boston Celtics, on Sunday, October 9.

The Lakers will begin their training sessions on September 12 at Pepperdine, and will use the facilities until September 29, when they leave for six exhibition games in New England, also with the Celtics. During the second week of training, a series of inter-squad games will be played in various suburban areas around Los Angeles.
